

sanremo

L'idea è nata dall'osservazione della conchiglia del nautilus: ogni singolo spicchio, di per sé una forma semplice, unito al successivo in una progressione curvilinea, crea una struttura estremamente robusta.

Questo vale non solo in natura: Sanremo ha una struttura in compensato curvato, fatta di elementi di per sé semplicissimi, la cui unione trasforma il tutto in un volume eccezionalmente leggero e resistente.

Le particolari angolazioni del profilo di questi segmenti aggregati permette di ottenere una conformazione anatomicamente ideale, quasi una fasciatura che sostiene il corpo nella posizione ottimale per lavorare accostati a uno scrittoio, quasi come se fosse un sedile di pilotaggio.

The idea was born from the observation of a nautilus shell: each single segment, a simple shape in itself, is joined to the next in a curvilinear progression, creating an extremely light yet robust structure.

This is true not only in nature: Sanremo has a curved plywood structure, made of elements that are very simple, but when assembled they transform everything into an exceptionally light and resistant volume.

The particular angles of the profile of these cluster segments allow to obtain an anatomically ideal conformation, almost like a bandage that supports the body in the optimal position to work next to a desk, almost as if it were a steering seat.
